Clapp affidavit- case we had, etc.

Allowing for lawyer exaggeration I believe this 2/1/72 letter from Clapp to Davis, who had gone over those of our records he wanted to, is a strong statement of the case Clapp saw, not a bargaining effort.

Davis had already told me they'd not agree to a settlement I'd accept.

What was there to bargain over?

This means he had first gone over the records Taft and Williams had and then came to us. I'd taken the others in to him.

It is hardly the representation of his affidavit.
